

Disclaimer (The Provision on the Limitation of the Responsibility)

The internet web-site invest-vitrina.com (“the Website”) belongs to the LLC “Corporation “Razvitie” (“Company”), Primary State Registration Number (ОГРН): 1183123018880, Taxpayer Identification Number (ИНН): 3123439322, situated on the address: Russian Federation, city of Belgorod, 85 Pobedy str., building 17. The website of LLC “Corporation “Razvitie” is the official source of public information about the projects. The website works in accordance with the norms of Russian legislation. All rights reserved. All rights are protected. The violations of the norms are prosecuted in accordance with the Russian Federation legislation. The website is not a mass media source and is targeted only for giving the Users general information. No information published on the website can be considered as public offer (under no circumstances).

Any legal entity and any person of at least 18 years old that is capable in accordance with the Civil Code of Russian Federation and has an access to the Internet are the Users of the Website.

The Company does not guarantee that the Website, under any circumstances, will work properly, without delay, mistakes and omissions but it is obliged to correct all the problems in proper time.

The Company does not guarantee and is not obliged to guarantee that the software of the Website does not have the mistakes or/and computer viruses or the outside fragments of code.

The Company gives the User an opportunity to use the software of the Website “as it is”, without any guarantees from the Company, without any guarantees from the Operator.

All the materials presented on the Website are fact-finding; they are not advertisement, offer or advice on the purchase or selling of the shares of the Companies. They are not the offer or advice on the implementation of financing in any aspect and must not be considered as the recommendations to these sorts of activities. The Company is not responsible for the content of any advertisement materials allocated on the Website at the present time and that can be uploaded on the Website in future.

The Company or any subject affiliated with LLC "Corporation "Razvitie", under no circumstances, is responsible for any negative consequences appearing in connection with the usage of the Website, its content or as a result of an access to the Website or copying, reproduction, or the another usage of the Website including any losses, material or non-material (including losses connected to the short-received commercial income, loss of profit, interruption of the activity, loss of the information or any other material damage), even if the Company has been informed about the possibility of such losses.

Any accessible information on the Website that mass media representatives are going to use for publications in mass media must be coordinated in written form with the Company representatives through addressing of interested subjects to the email address mentioned on the Website in the Section "Contacts" with the objective of clarification of actuality and correctness of such information.

The rights to any, defended by any applicable law, means of individualization of goods, works and services allocated on the Website in future, belong to their legal rightholders or the legal owners. In case of copying of any information from the Website the direct indexable link to the Website is necessary for any of the Users of the Website (without exclusion). In opposite case the Company has the right to use any means of legal protection available according to the applicable right.

The Website has the right to enter the changes in a one-sided way in the current provisions of Disclaimer to any Users of the Website.

The current Disclaimer is created in Russian. The Disclaimer, written in the other language, is the additional version to the current Disclaimer. In case of discrepancy of the Russian version of the Disclaimer with the additional version in the other language, the provisions of Russian version are applied.